

ABSTRACT

A method for redirecting a browser, comprising the steps of: receiving redirection initiation to redirect the browser; getting a direct or indirect reference to a destination; and causing the browser to browse to that 5 destination. Various example embodiments comprise a printer list destination, a printer destination, and a print now destination.